Safety First

While the Division's core functions may be regulation, licensing, education and distribution, the first priority is safety, for our employees, customers and everyone we interact with. To that end, I recently created a safety coordinator position which has been filled by long-time Division employee Jodi Christensen.

The initial objective of the safety program was to prevent accidents and ensure the safety of our warehouse operations workers. Through the application of physical job analysis, an exercise and stretching program, and pre-employment screenings, the goal is to have employees in as good, if not better, health and shape at the end of the work day as they were when they arrived.

As the safety program has progressed, many other opportunities have been presented, evolving the program into a comprehensive statewide strategy for the safety of all employees and customers. The newly formed Safety and Health Committee includes representatives from all three of the Division's bureaus as well as the Iowa Lottery and Professional Licensing Division, who rent space at the Division's facility. The committee's focus is to help identify hazards in the workplace and to serve as a liaison with other employees for safety training and education. One preliminary goal is to certify all interested employees in first aid, CPR and AED (automated external defibrillator) operation.

Currently, we are working on ensuring complete compliance with the United Nations' Globally Harmonized System of Classification and Labeling. This will be followed with an educational program on where to find and how to read the safety data sheets and how to safely handle hazardous materials such as chemical compounds and cleaning agents.

The Division's emergency action plan is also getting a comprehensive overhaul beginning with initial notification, through the disaster situation and crisis communication afterward. This includes utilization of Continuity of Operations & Continuity of Government (COOP/COG) planning to ensure the Division is sufficiently prepared to handle an crisis, whether the risk posed is natural, technological or man-made.

COOP/COG begins with conducting a business impact analysis, developing a recovery strategy and creating a disaster plan. That plan is then tested, employees are trained, and a maintenance and review schedule is set to ensure the strategy remains up-to-date. I will make an effort to share the results with licensees so in the case of an emergency or disaster, customers would already have an idea on how the Division will maintain services. The plan would allow for continued licensing, regulation and delivery service in order to minimize any disruption to licensees' business.

The Division has already begun working with some licensees to improve delivery conditions. Thank you to the customers who have made changes and I encourage you to work with us if Ms. Christensen or other Division staff contacts you concerning safety. Making improvements and finding alternate methods and means to serve everyone is beneficial for all, including licensees' employees and customers as well as Division delivery staff. Remember, licensees must conform to all applicable laws, ordinances and resolutions including health and fire regulations per Iowa Code chapter 123.30(2).

One final change customers may notice is secured building access at the Division facility in Ankeny. Visitors must sign in at the front desk and be accompanied by a staff member to access much of the office and warehouse area. Of course, our front door is always open for customers and the public, but our employees are more safe and secure due to the change.

The safety program has made some great headway but it will always be a work in progress. I am proud of the advancements made thus far and of the staff as they always keep customer service at the forefront of safety discussions. If you have suggestions or comments as we move forward, please feel free to contact Ms. Christensen or me.

Sincerely,

Stephen Larson

Green Beer... is just as intoxicating as regular beer

The Iowa Governor's Traffic Safety Bureau and the Iowa ABD would like to invite you to join us in promoting traffic safety. Nearly 23 percent of traffic fatalities last year in Iowa were attributed to drivers impaired on alcohol or other drugs.

Impaired driving crashes are preventable. Great concepts such as Designated Drivers and Call a Cab programs are innovative approaches to solving this nationwide tragedy. Remember that it is illegal to text while driving. Please help in our quest to protect all Iowans from impaired drivers during the upcoming holiday festivities.

Don't forget: drive sober or get pulled over and buzzed driving is drunk driving. More information such as printed materials and DVDs are available. Visit IowaGTSB.org or these other impaired driving information websites: NHTSA.gov, TrafficSafetyMarketing.gov and StopDruggedDriving.org.

FAVORITE ASPECT OF THE DIVISION
Variation of job duties from working under multiple programs.
Coordinating with three different areas gives her a variety of tasks that keeps her on her toes and her day from being monotonous.

TOBACCO/ALCOHOL PROGRAM COORDINATOR

What are your job duties?

My primary responsibility is to coordinate the FDA tobacco compliance program. Also, as part of the alcohol compliance program, I prepare and track all of the educational letters sent and review monthly direct shipping reports to ensure compliance. Lastly, I am responsible for maintaining the retailer records in the I-Pledge tobacco enforcement database and processing 28E agreements we receive from our law enforcement partners across the state.

What is the most challenging part of your job?

The most challenging time of year in my position is from May through the end of August. Every tobacco permit renews on July 1st each year and they all have to be entered into the I-Pledge tobacco enforcement database. There are almost 3,400 tobacco permits in Iowa.

What is the best part of your job?

The best part of my job is working as a part of various programs because I am not working on the same project all day. Having job duties under FDA, alcohol compliance and tobacco gives me variety in what I do and I really enjoy that.

What do you enjoy doing in your free time?

My husband and I both like running and we train for and enter at least one half-marathon each year. I also enjoy spending time with family and friends, as well as traveling. My family goes to Las Vegas together at least once a year and my husband and I went to Italy for our honeymoon this past October. I am currently planning our next trip to Europe for the fall of 2013. We also have our house for sale and plan to build a home in Johnston in the near future. While building a home is exciting, we have a lot of decisions to make. We spend a lot of time discussing and picking out items for the new house.

CHARLIE'S CHAMPIONS

EAT YOUR HEART OUT

AT CHARLIE'S STEAKHOUSE

Every town should have a go-to restaurant that everyone can count on for good food, good service and a consistently good experience. In Carroll, Iowa, Charlie's Steakhouse is quickly becoming that restaurant. Charlie's Steakhouse has revamped their menu and décor within the past year to breathe new life into a staple of the community. The owners take great pride in providing an establishment where everyone can feel like family, including the kids, who are given a cookie to decorate while they wait for their meal.

The "new" Charlie's Steakhouse opened its doors in January 2011 to showcase its updated design and concept. The owners removed the buffet that was located in the center of the restaurant and replaced it with a new bar and added TV's, new menu items and a Wall of Fame. The concept was more focused on becoming a dedicated steakhouse with a western theme throughout. The peanuts on the table (and shells on the floor) set the mood for a laid back environment but with delicious food.

All appetizers are homemade and perfected to make each bite full of flavor. The menu offers many cuts of steak but the drunken ribeye is the signature steak. It features an aged well-marbled ribeye steak brushed with their own savory Templeton Rye glaze, char-grilled to your specifications. The drunken ribeye comes in two sizes for all appetites to enjoy; 12 oz or 16 oz. The butter knife strip and sirloin steak are also menu favorites.

While steaks may be their specialty there are other reasons this steakhouse draws people in. Eating challenge anyone? This steakhouse has not one, not two, but three eating challenges including wings, prime rib and burgers. (See sidebar on next page.)

A CLEAR WINNER

Vibrant vodka is the biggest and most exciting spirits category today, with vigorous sales and innovative products.

innovations. Indeed, vodka's vigor is the chief driver in the U.S. spirits market. Stats indicate the category is seeing a return to premiumization. In terms of innovation, vodka sets the bar high, not only with a palette of flavors encompassing whipped cream, peanut butter and jelly, and wedding cake, but also in emerging subcategories such as organic, brightly colored, kosher, and low calorie.

There's a vodka to appeal to every consumer—and that's the category's biggest appeal.

"Vodka is still the most exciting category in the world and specifically the U.S. market with growth in every part of the category, at the bottom, middle, and the top," declares Charles Gibb, president of Belvedere Vodka. "Vodka continues to be the king; it's a behemoth," concurs Jason Daniel, brand director for Skyy Vodka and Campari, for San Francisco-based Campari America. "Vodka is the number-one liquor category at our store; it accounts for about 30 percent of our business, reports Bob Pearson, manager of the downtown store of Crown Liquors, a 20-store chain based in Indianapolis, Indiana. "It seems like there's a new vodka coming out every week," he adds. Naturally, his observations are echoed by retailers across the country.

LIGHTING UP THE VODKA FIREMAMENT ARE A NUMBER OF RISING STARS as well as solid performances from established labels. The flurry of flavor introductions is a chief driver of category growth. Virtually all of the major brands introduced one or more new ones last year. Attendant marketing support for these launches along with hubbub in print and the blogosphere around some of the wilder concoctions have kept vodka firmly in consumer's top-of-mind.

"We are seeing a classic pattern post-recession, a consumer return to premiumization," says David Ozgo, DISCUS senior vice president of economic and strategic analysis. "We are finding that consumers are trading up to vodkas that meet their interest in discovering unique brands and flavors," notes Kim Washington, senior director of vodkas for Beam Inc. "Superpremium vodka is on fire right now," echoes Shane Graber, vice president and managing director of Grey Goose. "Consumers are taking a step back and realizing that now they are looking for quality."

The vodka category is so vast and open to experimentation that it contains some interesting niches, reflecting current and emerging trends. Notably, that includes organic vodkas, local micro-distilled products, brightly colored spirits, and one-offs such as low calorie and kosher concepts.

One downside to the thriving and exuberant vodka category is standing out among the crowded retail shelves. "It's important first and foremost that you have a fantastic-tasting liquid inside the bottle,” says Belvedere’s Charles Gibb. After that, marketing and social media, he thinks, are more important than merely standing out on retail shelves. “It’s not just the retail space, but the consumer mind-space that you have to be occupying,” he explains.

Belveder’s Charles Gibb adds, “I remain very optimistic. The vodka category remains vibrant, interesting, and we’re taking full advantage of that.” Pinnacle CEO Paul Coulombe posits, “I don’t see anything taking the place of vodka in the near future—the future is extremely bright.”

From whipped cream, wedding cake, and sugar cookie to peanut butter and jelly, atomic hots (spicy cinnamon candy), and jalapeño, encourage your customers to try ALL of the intriguing vodkas on your shelf—for sipping and shooters as well as in popular mixed drinks!

LEGALLY SPEAKING

BUYERS' GUIDE

The Division's Regulatory Affairs Bureau recently completed its inaugural year of the reestablished alcohol compliance program. The state-wide program is designed to achieve licensee and permittee compliance with Iowa's liquor laws through education and voluntary compliance. Noncompliance can become costly when administrative actions (civil penalties, suspensions and revocations) become necessary to enforce compliance.

A review of investigations shows that a number of retailers are purchasing alcoholic beverages from businesses not licensed for wholesale. For example, a licensee who runs out of beer during the evening hours and replenishes inventory by buying it from a convenience store is in violation of Iowa law by not purchasing beer through a wholesaler.

Where a retailer must legally purchase alcohol depends on what type of alcoholic beverage is being purchased and if it is for on- or off-premises consumption. Here is a breakdown:

YOU HAVE QUESTIONS. WE HAVE ANSWERS.

ON-PREMISES RETAILER

(bars, restaurants, etc.)

- Alcoholic Liquor: An on-premises licensee must purchase alcoholic liquor from a class "E" liquor control licensee who holds a federal wholesaler's permit.
- Wine: An on-premises licensee must purchase wine from a wine wholesaler (a class "A" wine permittee). The only exception allows for less than one case, per brand, per 24-hour period to be purchased from a class "E" liquor control licensee who also holds a class "B" wine or native wine permit.
- Beer: An on-premises licensee can only purchase beer from a beer wholesaler (a class "A" beer permittee). Note: On most occasions, beer wholesalers are not available after hours and deliveries are only made during normal business hours, so plan accordingly.

OFF-PREMISES RETAILER

- Alcoholic Liquor: An off-premises licensee must purchase alcoholic liquor from the Iowa Alcoholic Beverages Division.
- Wine: An off-premises licensee must purchase wine from a wine wholesaler (a class "A" wine permittee).
- Beer: An off-premises licensee must purchase beer from a beer wholesaler (a class "A" beer permittee). Note: On most occasions, beer wholesalers are not available after hours and deliveries are only made during normal business hours, so plan accordingly.

IMPORTANT REMINDERS

It is only legal for retailers to purchase solely those alcoholic beverages their license or permit allows them to sell. However, it is illegal for alcoholic liquor, wine or beer to be transferred from one retail premises to another retail premises, even if all of the licensed premises are owned or under control of the same person, partnership, corporation or association.

Don't let an inventory dilemma cause you to become a noncompliant statistic!
